

Murray Voth - Biography

Murray Voth has a background in organizational leadership and development. In the past he has done work for a major oil company in dealer development. Murray has been involved in the service station and automotive maintenance and repair industry for 23 years and 5 years as a trainer and facilitator. Initially he conducted research and development of service station locations and has been an owner, partner and general manager of various locations.

Murray has extensive training and experience in facilitation and public speaking. Murray has taken training from some of the top automotive management trainers since 1991. He first met David Meunier, the president of Total Automotive Consulting and Training in 1996, when he took Dave's training. He implemented and used the ProShop material in his businesses at that time.

Murray considers it a privilege and the fulfillment of a life long dream to bring information and training that reduces stress and improves the economic circumstances of families and small businesses in general, and independent automotive maintenance and repair shops in particular. Murray is in his fifth year with Total Automotive Consulting and Training facilitating ProShop Performance groups and the TACT Shop Improvement Program. He also contributes on a regular basis to SSGM with articles on management, leadership, and human resources.
